GALLIPOLIS, OCT. 28, 1875.

The Inflation Madness.

Our young M. C. was elected by the inflation demagogues of Sam. Cary, and he verily believed that democratic success in 1875 was fore-shadowed by the campaign of 1874 in the Eleventh District, so he and his admirers went to the State Convention, on the 17th of June, 1875, filled with Sam. Cary and inflation. They made a great noise on that occasion, and succeeded by the assistance of Tom. Ewing and other lackey sort of fellows, in committing the party to the inflation-reputation hereby, against the protest of the old Jacksonian Democrats. The result is known. The people repudiated the dangerous combination. Now they are spit upon and kicked by their own party friends; there are none so low as to do them reverence.

The South was calculated upon to uphold the banner of the new departure, but now that victory follows the flag of Honest Money and National integrity, even the South goes back on inflation, and only finds words of condemnation for the departure of the Ohio Democracy from the faith of its fathers and prophets. The following extracts from leading Southern Democratic newspapers prove this beyond dispute:

The Mobile Register says: "The Democracy there has not been defeated in Ohio. It is a masquerading Democracy that has been overthrown—a Democracy under a false garb, and under colors stolen from the common enemy, in the vain, and fatal, and cowardly, and miserable hope to catch votes from the foe at the expense of the solid prestige and honor of his great party. Allen's defeat in Ohio strikes out of sight a heresy that was a sure and a danger in the National Democratic party."

The Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette says: "This result, while unexpected by many, is not surprising. It teaches the Democracy that honesty is the best policy; that if it hopes to be restored it must be by advocating Democratic principles. Throw away the demagoguery of inflation, big prices and rag money. More money is merely the latter-day version of two dollars a day and roast beef, forty acres and a mule,—catch phrases designed to take with the ignorant and unthinking."

The New Orleans Times says: "How it was that a party calling itself Democratic could throw away the very right bower of Democracy—a doctrine which is an axiom of all sound political economy and the teaching of all successful attempts at civilized government, is something which, like the peace of God, surpasses all understanding."

The New Orleans Bulletin says: "From this decision there is no appeal, and we may as well prepare to number the Ohio platform and the Ohio leaders with the things of the past. It is too plain a case to admit of argument."

The Memphis Avalanche says: "That but for the miserable mismanagement by the tricksters who seized the party machinery and controlled the State Convention, the Democratic party would have carried Ohio last Tuesday on a full vote, there could be no doubt. They permitted victory to pass out of their hands, and the public verdict will show that their defeat was deserved. It was not a Democratic defeat, but a defeat of men who, obtaining temporary direction of the party, prostituted it to their own unworthy ends."

The democratic press of West Virginia is inconsolable over the defeat of Allen, in Ohio, and resorts to all manner of vile excuses to keep alive the democratic fires in that State. For example the Point Pleasant Register accounts for the defeat in this wise:

It is said they sent all the darkeys in the Kanawha Valley to vote for the neighboring county of Gallia, Ohio, to vote the Radical ticket, and this may account for the extra large vote given.

Did the colored School Director, Bro. TRIPP, whom your party recently elected, come over and vote with the other "darkeys"?

But the Charleston Courier, edited by that "West Virginia Orator" who helped Allen and Pendleton open the campaign in this city, has discovered greater wonders than the Register, and apologizes for Allen's defeat in this manner:

They [Republicans] have bought votes by the 10,000, they have imported into Ohio negroes, roughs, rascals, and ballot stuffers by the 1,000.

All of which may go down where ignorance prevails, but to Ohioans it sounds like a voice from the tombs—like the cry of Dives from the regions of despair and punishment.

The defeat of Allen, in Ohio, has alarmed the inflationists of Pennsylvania, and they have now reversed their paddle wheels. The following from the Cincinnati Gazette tells the story:

The Chairman of their State Committee, H. B. Wright, had the impudence, in a speech delivered at Reading on the 16th, to say that the "public calamity of an irredeemable paper currency" had been endured for twelve years, and that the Republicans were responsible for it. He affirmed, moreover, that "the Democratic party has ever maintained, and does now, that gold and silver are the only basis of circulation," and asserted with wonderful effrontery that the Erie Convention held to this idea, and that the party never had, nor never would, abandon the plan of specie resumption.

We are perplexed; bewildered. The question, What is Democracy? is doing it. The New York wing claim to have the pure article, but here comes the Hillsboro (Ohio) Gazette and says: "We want to inform those in New York editors that it is our opinion that they have about as much affinity to true Democracy as the Devil has to holy water." Who has the true article? Is the Bulletin able to relieve our bewilderment?

Well Said.

HARPER'S WEEKLY says:—"As the Republicans in Ohio defended the life of the nation twelve years ago, so they have now saved its honor." Every Republican in Ohio should be proud of his vote, and his party, for the whole civilized world acknowledges that the victory won was on the side of National integrity—National honor.

Judges.

The following is the official majority for Common Pleas Judges, in this district. We omit the vote of KNOWLES, as he had no opposition.

The Prohibition candidate for Governor of Ohio received 2,553 votes. Thereupon the Cincinnati Commercial remarks: "It is something to think about that there were twenty-five hundred citizens of Ohio capable of throwing away their votes in a contest so momentous as that which has just occurred in this State."

EVERYBODY gives up this conundrum: What sort of a platform will Ohio Democrats plant themselves upon next year? Having already been on both sides of every question with which the American people have had to deal with, it is folly to attempt even a guess of their position next year.

The Assessor of Perrysburg, Wood county, last spring, returned the number of male inhabitants above twenty-one years of age at 1,149. At the recent election the town polled 3,016 votes! If we were traveling in that part of the State, we should go a long way around to avoid Perrysburg.

The editor of the Bulletin, since the election, is "grand, gloomy and peculiar."

The New York Tribune has not a very exalted opinion of the sagacity of an Allen voter. In speaking of the result in Ohio, it says: "It is a very serious matter to reflect that half the voters of Ohio thought so wrongly and so carelessly upon this matter [inflation] as to be willing to endorse the repudiation platform and elect such lunatic demagogues as were placed upon it."

FRANK LESLIE'S Illustrated Newspaper, calls the Ohio inflation leaders, "a clique of political dunderheads."

JUDGE EWART, of Marietta, is recommended by the Washington County Bar Association, for appointment on the Supreme Court Commission.

NEXT Tuesday New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Wisconsin and Minnesota, will choose State and Legislative officers.

BRIAN YOUNG is seventy-five years old.

Gov. HENDRICKS, of Indiana, who has some aspirations for the democratic nomination for President, being asked what influence on the Presidential campaign of next year the result in Ohio would have, replied: "Naturally it will make it harder for us to win."

The Republicans will not accommodate the Democrats by nominating Gen. GRANT for the third term. There is to be a new deal.

GEN. HAYES is looming up as a candidate for President. He is worthy, in every way, of the honor and the position.

ON Tuesday evening, of last week, a fire broke out in Danbridge's restaurant, on Capital street, Charleston, W. Va., which swept from the Cotton Opera-house to Virginia street, totally destroying seven store-houses, including Gates' photograph gallery, the Hale House livery stables, and the Kanawha Valley marble works on Virginia street. The Opera-house and Courier building barely escaped. The loss on the buildings is probably $10,000, and the insurance is very light, as the most of the companies recently cancelled their policies in this "tinder-box" row. The loss on stock was considerably more than on the buildings. R. R. Skeels was the principal owner of the buildings that were destroyed and his insurance was only $600.

A New York letter to the Cincinnati Gazette says:—"The defeat of the inflation folly will do much to restore confidence, and the metropolis now breathes more freely."

There can be no starvation in Nebraska, counting potatoes as food. Mr. H. R. BELL, Thursday morning, received by mail a specimen of the crop of his brother-in-law, Mr. A. McINTYRE. It weighed two pounds and two ounces. It was as fine a specimen of the potato as we have ever seen.

GEN. SOL. MEREDITH, one of the brave and bold officers of Indiana, in the late war, died at his residence in Cambridge City, that State, last Thursday. Gen. Meredith was the tallest man in Indiana, standing six feet and seven inches in his stockings.

DELANO has retired from the Cabinet position of Secretary of the Interior, and ex-Senator Chandler, of Michigan, fills the vacancy.

TWO YEARS ago E. A. Stone's majority in Gallia County was one hundred and one. Last October H. S. Bundy carried the county by thirteen majority. At that rate what will be Stone's majority this fall?—Bulletin, July 21.

Just 394. "At that rate what will be the Republican majority in 1876?"

Dr. PHILSON's majority, for Senator, is about 1,200.

Bids for building the Springfield and Jackson Narrow Gauge Railway were opened at Waverly, Pike county, on Thursday last. The contract for building the entire road, ready for equipment, was awarded to PRESCOTT & Co.

CALIFORNIA voted for a Superintendent of Public Instructions last week. CARR, Republican, carries the State by a large majority. Put that in your pipe, Mr. Democrat, and smoke it.

Neighborhood News.

Rev. M. D. VAUGHN preached his introductory sermon at Hamden, last Sunday week.

Rufus E. Wells and Jennie B. McClure were married in Vinton county the other day.

Mr. A. Falconer, formerly of Gallipolis, is in business at Wellston.

An infant child of Rev. Abernathy died at Hamden last week.

Hiram G. Lasley was foreman of the last Jackson county grand jury.

The Williamson boys of Great Bend, have sold their potato crop (about 3,000 barrels) to Mr. Graham, of Gallia county, at 40 cents per bushel.—Rocine Herald.

From the proceedings of the Medical Association at Ironton, on the 13th inst., we take the following:

Sanitary reports being called for, Dr. R. D. Jacobs responded for Gallia county, Ohio, a short paper, which presented considerable merit.

The committee on admissions presented the name of Dr. J. F. White, of Lawrence Furnace near Ironton, who was duly elected.

Dr. R. A. Vance presented a voluntary paper of great interest, on the subject of the "Differential Stethoscope in the diagnosis of some obscure Cardiac diseases," for which the Society returned Dr. Vance a vote of thanks.

As members of committees appointed for the next meeting we notice among others the following:

Sanitary Science, Drs. R. A. Vance, and J. R. Philson. Indigenous medicinal plants of the Valley, Drs. G. A. Ewing and R. D. Jacobs. Physiology, Drs. R. A. Vance and A. J. Beardsley.

The next meeting will be held in Gallipolis. The following is the Committee of Arrangements: Drs. R. A. Vance, John Sanna, W. S. Newton, W. C. H. Needham and W. B. Guthrie.
